

The TANDBERG Total Solution

TANDBERG delivers the most comprehensive and reliable total solution of video products in the industry - including telepresence and high definition video, a full portfolio of infrastructure products and MCUs, and the best video management platform available. A TANDBERG solution-based approach means organizations can add new standards-compliant technologies and capabilities, easily and transparently, at any time - with no disruption to the end-user experience. This translates into future-proof investments and an unparalleled video experience for end users and IT professionals alike.

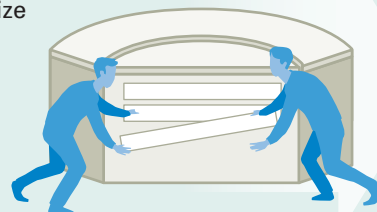

1 Identify Requirements

Make sure your next investment supports your overall communication strategy and is interoperable with all existing and future IT investments. Everything should be easy to implement and even easier to use.

2 Build the Foundation

Tame the network and centralize call control and management for all video assets. Ensure everything is reliable and scalable. As your deployment strategy grows, your foundation supports you every step of the way.

3 Deploy the Right Solutions

One size does not fit all. Choose the right video endpoints and services to support your end user needs. Deliver the best possible experience while scaling video to everyone in the organization.

4 Transform your Organization

Enable increased productivity and richer collaboration. Support teleworking initiatives and reduce your carbon footprint. Gain a competitive edge while maximizing ROI.
